WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this season generally fair; southwesterly winds.

SAD DROWNING.—When the Baltimore steamer Lady of the Lake, Capt. Cooper, arrived here Saturday night she had aboard the body of Mrs. Mary J. Wilkerson, of No. 320 east Capitol street, Washington, who was drowned on the afternoon of that day off Colonial Beach under distressing circumstances. The unfortunate lady, who had been in need of attention, left Washington a few days ago in charge of her daughter and a nurse for the purpose of spending a few days at the Point. They boarded the Lady of the Lake Saturday morning for the purpose of returning home, and Mrs. Wilkerson's daughter and the nurse being tired out from the incessant attention the sick lady required, gave her in charge of the chambermaid with instructions to keep a strict surveillance upon her. When the steamer was off Colonial Beach Mrs. Wilkerson managed to escape the vigilance of the chambermaid and entered the ladies' toilet room. Suddenly the demented lady leaped toward the small window in the room, and before the maid who was on her trail could prevent had climbed out of the window. She managed to grasp her around the waist, and she too, was pulled through the window. Mrs. Wilkerson then swung herself around on the small ladder that is used for life-saving purposes and commenced to descend it. Still the maid clung to her, and until the latter's frock had been partially torn off did she release her hold. Hurriedly and with a defiant look upon her face the frenzied woman reached the bottom of the ladder, and with a shriek sprang into the river. The steamer was stopped as soon as possible and the lifeboat lowered. When the spot where the suicide was last seen was reached the body was found floating just below the surface, being evidently held up by her inflated skirts, and was taken to the steamer and efforts at resuscitation made, but in a few moments life was extinct. Upon the arrival of the steamer at this port Capt. Cooper notified Messrs. F. A. Reed & Co., the agents of the steamer, and telephoned Lieutenant Smith, of the police force, of the sad occurrence. The latter proceeded to the steamer and immediately apprised Dr. Purvis, the coroner, of the circumstances of the case. The doctor, upon his arrival, decided that an inquest was unnecessary, and later the steamer proceeded to Washington with the body of the unfortunate lady. Mrs. Wilkerson was a lady of much refinement, and during her life engaged in many charitable undertakings. She did valuable service in working for the bill in Congress that established the Home for Incurables in Washington. During the past eight years she had been a sufferer from Bright's disease, which affected her mind. She was in constant dread of being arrested, and was constantly seeking protection. She leaves a husband and two daughters.

THE REMOVAL OF CAPT. DAVIS.—The Washington Star says: "The removal of Capt. Davis from the command of the Norfolk and Washington propeller Washington without a stated cause will probably cause trouble. Capt. Davis is a member of the Washington Harbor of Masters and Pilots, and that organization will look into the case. Capt. Georgehan, who assumed command of the Washington, is a member of the Baltimore Harbor of Masters and Pilots. An officer of the Washington harbor told a reporter for the Star on Saturday that no steamship company would be permitted to remove a master without assigning a reason, and Capt. Georgehan violated the constitution of the order in accepting such a vacancy. The matter will be settled during the week. It may develop some interesting facts."

Interviews with several steamboat men yesterday show that there is no likelihood of any such steps being taken. Superintendent Callahan, of the Norfolk and Washington Company, says that the change has been made because the company thought it a good one, and that it was the judge of who should be in charge of its property. Capt. Davis has been given ten days' leave with pay.

MR. MCKENZIE.—Hon. Lewis McKenzie, of Alexandria, has been a visitor to our town during the past week. He is quite a remarkable man, and years ago was very prominent in Virginia, both in politics and in business. He is now in his eighty-third year, but his intellect is clear and his years. Before the late civil war Mr. McKenzie was one of the most prominent and public spirited men in Alexandria. In politics he was a staunch whig, and for many years represented his county and city in the Virginia legislature. When the secessionists were most clamorous in favor of breaking up our great government, Mr. McKenzie stood like a stone wall in behalf of the Union of Washington, Madison and Jefferson. When the war closed he was in favor of universal amnesty. He represented the Alexandria district in Congress one or two terms, and was a safe and reliable representative, who attended to the interests of all his constituents regardless of politics. We are glad to see him so vigorous in his green old age. Harrisonburg Spirit of the Valley.

POLICE REPORT.—Last night was clear and cool. There were no prisoners or lodgers at the station house.

Mayor Strauss this morning disposed of the following cases:

John Dorn, arrested by Officer Sherwood for being drunk on the street, forfeited $5 collateral by failing to appear.

Lawrence Jackson, colored, arrested by Officers Griffin and McCuen, for an assault on Martha Davis, colored, was fined $10.

Theodore Beach, arrested by Officer Tier, for being drunk and disorderly, failed to appear and forfeited $5 collateral.

John Hobery, arrested by Officers Grady and Crump for being drunk on the street, was fined $2.50.

Senus Lee, colored, arrested by Officers McCuen and Griffin for disorderly conduct and interfering with them in the discharge of their duty, was fined $7.

Heavy Anderson, colored, arrested by Officer Crump for an assault on Rebecca Quill, also colored, had his case continued.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.—Members of the centennial chorus are requested to be on hand at the rehearsal to-night at Peabody Hall. New members will be received, as last Monday the storm prevented many from attending. Prof. Gambrill has written for more books, which he hopes, will be here in time. Those members having books will please be sure to bring them as the supply is limited. A special rehearsal will be called for Thursday night, September 7th, for the benefit of those who may join on Monday. The grand chorus now numbers 1,400 voices and much enthusiasm is manifested. Let Alexandria keep up the interest so far shown, and our contingent will be an important factor in the success of the undertaking.

Mr. C. F. Neale, chairman of the committee of arrangements on the part of the Hydration Fire Company, has been advised by the chairman of the parade committee of the Capitol centennial celebration that the parade will form at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and 17th street on Monday, 18th inst. at 11 o'clock a. m. It has been determined that visiting firemen from this city shall leave here on the 9:30 a. m. boat on that day, and an escort of the veteran firemen's association will meet them at the wharf in Washington and conduct them to their place in the line of procession.

PERSONAL.—Miss Trist, of New Orleans, is the guest of Mrs. J. W. Burke. Messrs. Lee Field and Dan Ruben have returned from a two weeks' visit to the Chicago Fair.

Aaron Katz, Leo. Ruben and Sam'l Schwartz purpose visiting the Chicago Fair.

Mrs. Virginia Stewart, who has been spending the past month in Leesburg, has returned to her home in this city.

Mr. W. H. May has announced himself a candidate for the House of Delegates from this city and county.

Miss Ida R. Lyles, who has been visiting friends at Cape May, has returned to her home in this city.

Miss Kate and Miss Sallie Stuart have returned from Chicago.

Misses Pauline and Ada Mosby are visiting friends in Rockville.

Mr. William H. Starnell has returned from pleasant trip to Chestertown, Md.

Misses Lillian and Mena Kersey have returned from Pleasant Valley, where they spent the summer with their grandparents.

Mr. C. C. Dunn has been relieved from the position of assistant engineer on the R. & D. R. R. and made supervisor of the Manassas and W. & O. divisions of that road.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The rush for permits to enter the public schools was greater to-day than on any opening during the twenty-odd years they have been in vogue. There were six hundred people—men, women and children—in and around Peabody Building.

They were all in unseemly haste in clamoring for permits, and the clerk, his assistant and three policemen were powerless to keep order. So persistent did the crowd become and so annoying that it was necessary to cease the issuance temporarily, and the clerk and his assistant were compelled to retire to the office of the superintendent on a lower floor, where with police aid the work was resumed. During the rush several children were crowded and hurt and one lady fainted. The clerk managed to issue 690 permits—341 to white boys, and 349 to white girls.

On the corresponding day last year 699 permits were issued—300 to boys and 399 to girls. Permits will be issued to-morrow and Wednesday to white children, and on Thursday and Friday to colored children.

DROWNED.—Samuel C. Carter, a grocer at 1000 D street southwest, and a wood and coal dealer at 495 K street southwest, Washington, was drowned when the steamer Arrowsmith near Leonardtown, Thursday evening.

About ten days or two weeks ago he went to St. George's Island when it was noticed he had been drinking heavily. During the trip up he narrowly escaped falling into the fireroom. Some of his friends took him in hand, and before arriving at Leonardtown, which was reached at 7:58 p. m., left him sitting near the dining-room door. After the boat started he could not be found. He had evidently jumped or fallen overboard, for his body was subsequently found floating in the river. It was brought up to this city where funeral services were held this evening from Mr. Wheatley's undertaking establishment. The deceased was about forty years old and leaves a wife (who is a daughter of the late Capt. John C. Gray, of this city) and two children.

LABOR DAY.—This holiday was not generally observed hereabouts. It is true, numbers refrained from work for the very good reason that there is none to be found at their several occupations. It was a bad day for birds and other game, a large number of persons having spent the day on gunning expeditions. The firing of fowling pieces was kept up incessantly on the outskirts of the city from sunrise until sunset. The Mount Vernon Railroad Company provided several attractions at Riverside Park for the benefit of excursionists, and their cars carried good crowds to that popular resort. A respectable percentage of the people who had nothing to do went to Washington for the purpose of visiting the various places of interest in that city. The banks were closed, but otherwise the occasion was by no means a dies non. The weather throughout the day has been delightful.

SHOT AT BY A NEGRO.—George H. Hay, a young man who drives an ice wagon in Washington, reported in that city yesterday that he was shot by a negro in this city during the morning without provocation. Hay makes daily trips to this city with ice. Yesterday he says an unknown negro walked up with a revolver in his hand and fired a bullet at him. He threw up his left hand to shield his face and the bullet struck his index finger and ploughed its way back into his hand. The negro put the revolver back into his pocket and escaped. So far as can be learned nobody in this city heard of the affair until they read about it in a Washington paper. The young man should have made complaint to the Alexandria police.

RUNAWAY.—A horse attached to a wagon belonging to Mr. Joseph Lyles, of Fairfax county, caused some excitement on Fairfax road, between twelve and one o'clock to-day, by running away. The animal was standing in front of a store on the southern part of that street when it became frightened and ran northward at racehorse speed, scattering cabbage and other market trash in its wake. Upon arriving at Wolfe street the frightened animal made a short turn into that thoroughfare, upsetting the vehicle and bringing the stampee to a close. The wagon was considerably injured, but the horse didn't seem to have been much hurt.

COUNTY COURT.—Judge R. H. Telles presiding for Judge D. M. Chichester. The question of an assessment of damages in the case of the application of R. H. Phillips for a new road from Aqueduct bridge to the Military Road was argued and submitted. The damages were assessed by commissioners some time since, but exceptions were taken. The grand jury, with A. G. Hayes as foreman, returned true bills against Edward Bradley, indicted for breaking and entering a store; Fred Dyson, Wm. Carter, Thos. Wise and Jno. Patton, sr., for selling liquor without a license, and Jas. Willis, Jno. Beckett, Thos. Burke, George Hunt and Henry Reynolds, for selling lottery tickets. The grand jury when this report closed was considering the case of the recent murder of the old soldier Swift.

THE ASSAILANTS OF MRS. HERBERT. The two men who assaulted Mrs. Hattie Herbert in her yard on Queen street one night last week have not yet been captured, although every effort to do so has been made by the authorities of this city telegraphing a description of them to places they would have been likely to have passed through. Several arrests of suspicious characters have been made in other places in Virginia, but the description of the parties did not answer with that of the two desperadoes wanted here. Lieutenant Smith, however, thinks he has a clue to their whereabouts, and hopes yet to have them caught and brought back here.

THE COOL, BRIGHT WEATHER of yesterday brought more people than usual on the streets and the attendance at the churches showed much improvement. Numbers of persons who have been out of the city on summer trips have returned. The excursion season is drawing to a close, and there was a marked falling off in the number which went down the country on the electric railway, as well as on the steamers running to the river resorts. More people than usual came here from Washington and contiguous cities, and they interested themselves in seeking out old landmarks and places rendered historical hereabouts.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The remains of J. Gilford White, who died in Washington on Saturday, were brought here yesterday and interred.

General M. D. Corse and Captain K. Kemper each have night-blooming cereus plants which bloomed this morning.

Mr. M. B. Harlow has sold to Mrs. Mary A. Devitt all of his right and title in the estate of the late Thos. Devitt for $200.

In a game of ball Saturday evening at Colross the second nine of the Virginians defeated the King of the Diamond, by a score of 30 to 6.

A picked nine from this city on Saturday defeated the Alerts of Washington in a game of ball played near the Monumental grounds in that city, by a score of 25 to 15.

Mail messenger service has been discontinued at Fairfax Station, Fairfax county, from Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad and from Richmond and Danville Railroad.

The alarm of fire about 7:30 o'clock last night, which brought out the fire department, was caused by the bursting of a lamp in a house near the end of north St. Asaph street.

The fire engine W. A. Smoot, just rebuilt by the members of the Columbia company, was today tested at the corner of Washington and Duke streets, and worked most satisfactorily.

Hereafter the city division of the electric railway line will end at F street, New Alexandria, opposite the hotel there, and all points beyond that place will be considered on the Mount Vernon division.

Marriage licenses were issued in Washington on Saturday to Peter C. McCrink and Mary D. Thomas, of that city, and to Henry T. Alley, of Charlottesville, and Sarah E. Lucas, of Prince George's county, Md.

It is reported that the coast south of the capes is strewn with pine lumber, and it is believed that the schooner Oliver Booth, bound from Brunswick, Ga., for Washington, and on which it was feared there might be yellow fever, has been wrecked.

Mr. Robert S. Wharton, one of the oldest residents of Washington, was struck by a cable train near the corner of Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue about 3:30 yesterday afternoon and died from the effects of his injuries about four hours later at Emergency Hospital.

Slaughter of Blankets.

We closed from one of the largest Blanket Manufacturers in this country over 500 pair of White Wool Blankets. This will seem to you a peculiar time to make an offering in this line, but we could not resist the purchase. The almighty purchasing power of ready cash is what the manufacturer sought for. We had it, and in exchange they gave us blankets for "Fifty Cents" on the dollar. We are going to make one "SCREAMING SLAUGHTER SALE" of them, and would advise everyone to prepare for the winter, for never again will there be such an offering in Blankets, even in dead winter. They will be divided into twelve lots, prices ranging to suit all.

Sales open MONDAY, at 8 a. m.
